EASTERN DATES TO JANUARY 18

New York News

New York, Jan. 15. [illegible] day the lumber yard of [illegible] & Co. and one of the piers on East river were burned. Loss $80,000.

The steamer Aspen [illegible] the Darien Canal expedition sailed to-morrow. The [illegible] of the fleet will start [illegible].

The Stanton fund amounts to $100,000 and is [illegible] growing much larger.

A boy twelve years old was fatally stabbed in the Bowery last night by a [illegible].

There will be a strike probably on Long Island Railroad in consequence of a reduction of the wages of employes.

During the past year over eighty thousand dollars' worth of goods have been stolen from the Hudson River Railroad by thieves.

The telegraph strike is considered to be at an end.

New York, Jan. 16. The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher [illegible] his congregation [illegible] increase his salary. He said the first information he had received that such an advance had been resolved upon was from a newspaper.

New York, Jan. 17. A Roman Catholic view of the public school question was stated before a large audience at the Cooper Institute last evening by Rev. [illegible] Preston, pastor of St. Anne's Church. Dr. Preston claims that the Catholic religion requires variation in the schools for the young, and asks that allowance be made from the school fund proportionate to the number of children there educated for the purpose of establishing separate schools.

Interesting [illegible] took place yesterday in the Mormon Temple at Brooklyn. A new Elder from Edinburg was installed with appropriate services. One hundred and forty Saints were present from Salt Lake. The Elder delivered a sermon vigorously defending polygamy and denouncing the scurrilous press of New York.

Samuel Shellabarger, Minister to Portugal, and Bishop [illegible] of Ohio arrived yesterday.

The Tribune gives the facts relative to the [illegible] by the courts in the Central Atlantic and Great Western Railway. In December 1868, the road was leased by the Erie Company, but they paid no rent last spring. In a suit [illegible] by the Erie Company that Company was protected by an injunction of Judge Barnard from paying rent. Soon after some judge made Jay Gould and O'Doherty receivers of the Company. On the strength of that appointment some persons were made receivers in Pennsylvania and Ohio, but paid no earnings to the bondholders. Recently discontented bondholders investigated matters and found all suits and appointments conclusive and controlled by Erie managers. They appealed to the courts of Ohio and New York. Gould and O'Doherty have been supplanted as receivers and Reuben Hitchcock, of Ohio, has been appointed in their place. The same result will follow in Pennsylvania. An order removing Gould and O'Doherty as receivers in New York was entered on Friday last and a new receiver is now in possession collecting earnings. There is pending a negotiation between the new receiver and the Erie Company to allow the latter to operate the line under the supervision of the receiver, which will probably be done if the bondholders can make sure of getting their share of the earnings, but not otherwise.

New York, Jan. 17. The Women's Suffrage Convention have resolved that political enfranchisement would make women more self reliant and enable them to promote greater harmony between the sexes.

The boiler of the steamer Parthenia exploded on Long Island Sound on Thursday. Two engineers were scalded and subsequently died.

The Spanish Consul received a dispatch from Havana on the 4th inst. conveying intelligence of large operations. The Cubans at the first fire lost eighty killed and also five chiefs. Two hundred insurgents surrendered at Esperito and 130 Cubans and 300 negroes at Cienco Villas. They are utterly discouraged.

Articles were signed to-day for the fight between Jim Mace and Tom Allen, to come off on the 15th day of April.

The case of 147 Wall street brokers, charged with not paying the tax on their capital in actual use, was transferred to Commissioner Shields. To-day two firms paid the tax.

The strikers at Jersey City remain firm. It is rumored that a majority of Erie mechanics at Susquehanna, Port Jarvis and Buffalo have imitated the example of the friends of the Associated Locomotive Brotherhood at Port Jarvis, and decided to do no more repairing on the Erie engines, as it would interfere with the strikers.

A serious riot occurred at Yonkers on Sunday evening and two policemen were brutally beaten.

Cuban News.

New York, Jan. 15. Havana letters of the 8th say the insurgents are again overrunning the districts of B[illegible] and Monsanello. The Spanish express the belief that military operations have been successful. The Cienceovillas district will be greatly pacified shortly.

Havana, Jan. 16.—The Gazette publishes dispatches from the interior announcing the surrender of insurgents in large numbers. The Spanish troops of the central district are on the march to attack the insurgents.

The Spanish mail steamer took a memorial signed by thousands of Spaniards to request the Cortes to defer granting liberties and reforms at Porto Rico. The document gives as reason for this request that the granting of these privileges will prove highly injurious to the cause of Spain in Cuba and will be used as a weapon against Spaniards to weaken the power of the Government. The residents of Cuba at present do not desire such reforms.

Ratification by Mississippi—Senatorial Election

Jackson, Jan. [illegible] The Legislature ratified the 14th and 15th amendments. An election for Senators takes place on Monday. B. G. Eggleston, [illegible] and Gen. Ames are prominent candidates. Gen. Alcorn's letter to Gen. Ames declining the Provisional Governorship says:

Coming from military authorities and subject for support to military power, the fitness of things appears to [illegible] my acceptance while I hold the immediate prospect of attaining the position of civil Governor by the sanction most acceptable to my instincts as an American citizen—that of the popular [illegible]. I may perhaps be indulged in the frank confession that under the fellowship of error and chastisement by which I belong to the Southern people I am constrained by the [illegible] of my heart to draw back from lot or part in the Government, and to deny any other right than that of their own choice.

St. Domingo

New York, Jan. 16. Port au Prince advices of Dec. 13th state that the revolutionists made a demand for the surrender of the refugees who had taken shelter with the American Consulate, but were compelled to take the back track and apologize by the British and French men of war summoned to his assistance by our Consul.

Salnave has been captured in a schooner endeavoring to escape from Cuba, by the revolutionists. He was placed on a war steamer taken to Port au Prince and imprisoned. The French and English commanders were assured that all prisoners would be treated with consideration and that there will be [illegible] shed.

News from Dr. Livingstone

Washington, Jan. 18. A letter dated Zanzibar, [illegible], from Consul Webb states that a letter had been received at the British Consulate from Dr. Livingstone dated May [illegible]. Livingstone was at Ujiji on Tanganyika lake, where he has found his supplies. He was in good health and spirits and prepared to traveling to the westward [illegible] further [illegible].

Death, Storms and Floods

Chicago, Jan. 18. A. H. Patterson, a member of the Constitutional Convention from Kankakee county, died to-day.

A severe rain and wind storm accompanied by lightning, prevailed to-day at St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati. The streams are rising rapidly and threatening destruction to property.

Revenue Order—Woman's Suffrage Convention

Washington, Jan. 18. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has instructed assessors to commence work immediately. No penalty for refusal to make returns can, however, be enforced before March 1st.

A National Woman's Suffrage Convention assembles here next week. The leading objects are said to be the enfranchisement of women in the District of Columbia and the passage of a sixteenth amendment to the Constitution to secure that object. A number of prominent persons are to be present.

The adjournment of Congress is favored and considered practicable by a number of members, [illegible] arguing that with industry and necessity the business can be finished by the first of May.

The committee of the National Labor Union Congress of America is here preparing an address to the people of the United States setting forth the demands of the working men of the nation.

A National Temperance Movement Proposed

Washington, Jan. 18. The Congressional Temperance Society held a meeting to-night at the Metropolitan Methodist Church. The house was densely crowded with ladies and gentlemen. Senator Wilson was President. The Secretary read the following recommendation of the Society: Believing that the habitual use of intoxicating liquors as beverages causes misery to every man, woman and child over ten years old, and that one million of members of Christian churches [illegible] the Sabbath and public schools [illegible] millions of others might be persuaded to pledge their faith, truth and honor wholly to abstain from the use of intoxicating drink, it is recommended that simultaneous meetings in their several towns, townships, cities and wards be held on the 22d day of February next, the birthday of Washington, to unite in the organization of a Union Temperance Society, based on a simple pledge of total abstinence and to adopt practical measures to have such a pledge presented; that from poverty, suffering and crime there is safety alone in total abstinence; that a personal pledge of co-operation will have the effect to [illegible] secure and maintain such abstinence. The Congressional Temperance Society suggests and recommends the Ministers of churches, all temperance organizations, humane philanthropists and patriots throughout the land to hold these meetings. The Secretary believes that if carried [illegible] and vigorous effort be made [illegible] third of the nation would within a few [illegible] be thus pledged. Senators [illegible] Wiley, Patterson and Buckingham, Representatives Whittemore and Ferry and Vice President Colfax addressed the meeting. Senator Wilson said that it was proposed to hold meetings every two weeks during the session of Congress and that others would be procured for that purpose.

Concerning the Income Tax

Chicago, Jan. 18. Washington special says that although the income tax expired December 30th, the Secretary of the Treasury holds that the tax on salaries of Government officers levied under a special clause does not cease until Congress so declares. The disbursing officers of the government are ordered to continue to levy the income tax from salaries till further orders.

The President declines to give women leave of absence to attend the Women's Suffrage Convention this week, and says he will allow no more general leave of absence to department clerks.

Prospects for the passage of the Census bill are not altogether favorable, ex-Superintendent Kennedy and others opposing the bill and desiring to have the census taken under the plan adopted ten years ago.

Unearthing of Frauds and Rings in New York

The House committee of investigation brings out facts of a grave nature. One National Bank with only $200,000 of capital and deposits, issued certified checks to the amount of $40,000,000. On the day of the gold battle, such papers as these were used as essential means for carrying on contracts. Some things in evidence look bad for Judges Barnard and Cardoza. Injunctions appeared in such rapid succession that some persons suspected they must have been prepared beforehand, an indication that these judges were in the ring. A number of leading business men of New York want the committee to contrive some plan to break up this injunction business by city judges. They say it puts legitimate enterprise at the mercy of gold and stock boards, and if not checked must end in the formation of a vigilance committee.

Boston Dispatch

Boston, Jan. 17.—The Post says there has been a clerical error or defalcation of some $15,000 discovered in the City Treasurer's office, and the employees in the office will be held under arrest until restitution is made. No names mentioned.

Cable dispatches last night conveyed to Parepa Rosa the announcement of the death of her mother.

John Hayes and John Long, who were discharged from the State prison upon discovery of their innocence, after four years imprisonment, have applied to the Legislature for compensation.

The defalcation of the Boston City Treasury is charged upon Kohl W. Collins, late of California, a clerk who was entrusted with paying the interest on the city debt. He confesses to having converted coupons into gold, of which he lost $9,000. He had in his possession $5,000 with which he was about to start for Europe on a tour. The total embezzlement is from $10,000 to $16,000.

Great Fire at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis (Midnight), Jan. 17.—The fire is still raging and there is but a limited supply of water. The block of four story buildings adjoining the Opera Hall is entirely destroyed. The loss of Opera Hall and buildings amount to $100,000; on Morris block probably $20,000. The fire is believed to have originated in the flue of a furnace. The Opera Hall was crowded when the fire broke out, but no panic occurred and all got out without injury. It has been the most destructive fire that ever visited the city. The fire is barely subdued but probably will not extend further.

Miscellaneous

Boston, Jan. 15.—Old Brattle Street Church took fire this evening from an overheated flue. This relic of Revolutionary times was fortunately saved from extensive damage.

New Orleans, Jan. 15. The Governor has signed the bill repealing the gambling law. The telegraph strikers have returned to day.

Atlanta, Jan. [illegible] In the Court [illegible] jury [illegible] a plea by defendants' counsel against the jurisdiction of the court as subversive of the rights of the defendants, were argued. The court was engaged all day in examination of witnesses.

[illegible] Reports from [illegible] say that every house between there and Carr City six miles distant has been blown down and that over twenty lives have been lost.

The Governor's message [illegible] recommending the reconsideration of the endorsement of the 14th amendment by the New York Legislature was received with inexpressible applause.

Portland, Me., Jan. [illegible] The fleet bearing Peabody's remains was at Madeira Jan. 1. The vessel intended to call at Bermuda.

Cincinnati, Jan. [illegible] Early this morning a stone wall one hundred feet long and thirty feet high in the rear of a building on Third street fell, crushing a kitchen where a woman named Hennessey was making a fire in the kitchen. She was caught and held by the falling stones till liberated by her husband with a broken leg. In another [illegible] two girls were in the same bed; one was burned, but the other was unhurt. The [illegible] last night was the [illegible] The [illegible] has been [illegible] years.

The total collection returned as revenue in the second district of Ohio for December was $[illegible]58,000, an increase over December of the previous year of $[illegible],000.

St. Louis, Jan. [illegible] The grand jury has found bills against the architect and contractors of the building at the corner of Fifth and [illegible] streets which fell recently, killing and wounding several men. The prisoners [illegible] the charge of manslaughter against them.

From Mexico

City of Mexico, Jan. [illegible] The revolution in the State of [illegible] is increasing. The Governor and members of the Legislature are [illegible] held prisoners. [illegible] Federal [illegible] had joined the insurgents. The officer of the Federal troops in that State reports the forces too strong [illegible] to engage the insurgents. Federal troops in Durango under General Rocha [illegible]. The [illegible] several districts of Mexico has also proclaimed against the national authority. A detachment of Federal troops was sent against them and defeated the rebels in the State of Puebla. The rebels continue to maintain a defiant attitude. Their leaders have issued a decree pardoning all Imperialists.

The family of President Juarez will soon sail for Europe.

A contract of $90,000 on the way to Mexico was appropriated.

[illegible] mill, the largest in Mexico, was destroyed by fire. One thousand operatives are thrown out of employment.

Washington News

Washington, Jan. [illegible] The Committee on Banking and Currency have commenced the investigation of the New York gold panic of last September.

A. M. Clapp, Government printer, in a private letter referring to a special dispatch to a New York paper stating that an investigation into the accounts of the Congressional printer shows that one hundred and fifty thousand dollars had been recklessly used, says that no charge whatever was made against him, and that hence no investigation could take place. He says the whole affair is a conspiracy against him.

The Committee on Banking, instructed to inquire into the late gold [illegible], heard to-day the testimony of Hodgkins and Bonnel, bankers of New York, Ben. [illegible], late President of the Gold Exchange Bank, and [illegible], cashier of the Tenth National Bank. James Fisk, Jr., Jay Gould and Corbin are summoned to appear before the committee on Monday.

To-day Elisha H. Allen was introduced to the President by Secretary Fish and presented his credentials as Envoy Extraordinary from the Kingdom of Hawaii, and the customary addresses were made.

The Saratoga Gas Works and buildings were damaged considerably to-day by an explosion and escape of gas. Two workmen were burned.

The Senate confirmed Emmons as Judge of the sixth Judicial circuit in place of Wilkey, declined.

Secretary Fish calls the attention of Congress to the indemnity fund received from him amounting in the aggregate to $116,3[illegible], with accrued interest in the further sum of $120,000. The claims against the fund have been allowed and paid to Mott & Co., amounting to $428,422.

Among the nominations sent to the Senate to-day were Milton Kelly, Associate Justice of Idaho; Edward S. Kearney, U. S. Marshal; Orange Jacobs, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Washington Territory.

In the Supreme Court to-day the death of Stanton was announced, and the Attorney General pronounced a eulogy, and the Court adjourned.

Congressional

Chicago, Jan. 18.—In the Senate yesterday a bill passed prohibiting retired officers from being assigned to duty which entitles them to full pay.

Sumner, from Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported the French cable bill not exceeding $[illegible]000,000.

Howard reported, without amendment, a bill regulating descents in Utah.

Sumner reported a substitute for the bill in regard to cables and telegraphs. It provides that the Government of the United States shall enjoy the same privileges as foreign countries and be allowed to use wires one hour in every twelve for the transmission of messages by its own operators, such messages to take precedence of all others; the union of the interests of two or more cables to be unlawful without the consent of the Postmaster General.

The Virginia bill came up on the expiration of the morning hour. Morton spoke in favor of the admission of Virginia. Stewart suggested the propriety of substituting the House bill for the pending measure, and moved to table the Senate bill, which was agreed to. Ayes, [illegible]; noes, 23. All the Pacific Senators voted in the affirmative. House bill taken up and read a second time. Edmunds offered an amendment requiring the oath for State officers and members of the Legislature. After a lengthy discussion the Senate went into Executive session. After which Senate adjourned.

In the House a number of bills were presented, including one authorizing the Postmaster General to contract for the construction of telegraph [illegible] and establish postal telegraphs in connection with his Department.

Cox offered a resolution constituting eight hours a legal day's work for all Government laborers, workmen and mechanics.

Kelly offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Banking and Currency to report a bill providing for the withdrawal from circulation of National Bank notes and to substitute greenbacks. The House refused to suspend the rules [illegible] so the resolution went over.

The House considered Judd's bill [illegible] representation for the forty second Congress. Judd spoke at length in favor of the bill. After some unimportant business the House adjourned.

Washington, Jan. 18. The House took up the [illegible] for the transfer of League Island Navy Yard. Mr. Dawes (Rep.) opposed it because under it the Secretary of the Navy could sell $3,000,000 worth of property at private sale to whom he pleased and on what terms he pleased. The Treasury Department has not money to [illegible] take the enlargement of Navy Yards this year. Mr. Dawes criticised the estimates of the Navy Department for the present year and said they did not inspire him with much confidence, although the Secretary promised a saving [illegible] $2,000,000 [illegible] only cost $150,000 the last two years. That was an achievement in mathematics [illegible] parallel only in the report of the [illegible] General who proposed to save $3,000,000 yearly by abolishing the franking privilege while the franked matter would produce $[illegible]. The estimates for the next fiscal year [illegible] appropriations for public purposes of nearly $[illegible] against an appropriation for the [illegible] objects last year of $[illegible] under Andrew Johnson's administration [illegible] which the country took the power from Andrew Johnson they [illegible] imaginary political gains to be continually expending money. As a test question [illegible] table and [illegible] Committee on Appropriations [illegible] in an attempt to curtail the expenses of the Government. Very marked attention was paid to [illegible] the speech of [illegible] Committee on Appropriations. [illegible] followed in reply, but during his speech the morning hour expired and the [illegible] went over under the rules [illegible].

Mr. Stewart read a telegram announcing the ratification of the 15th amendment by the Rhode Island Legislature and said Virginia if admitted would complete the list of States whose vote was necessary to make the amendment a part of the Constitution.

Rhode Island Ratifies

Providence, R. I., Jan. 18. The House has passed a resolution to ratify the 15th amendment—59 to 9. The Senate passed the resolution last June.

Election of a Senator in Maine

Augusta, Me., Jan. 18. Lot M. Morrill was to-day re-elected Senator.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 18. Gov. Geary was inaugurated to-day for his second term. He made a very long address and there was a grand military and civic procession.

Georgia Legislature

Atlanta, Jan. 18.—A committee of the Legislature have addressed a letter to Gen. Terry protesting against his manner of assembling that body as illegal as well as unconstitutional. Gov. Bullock has declared a further recess of the Legislature until Wednesday to give time for the pending investigation in regard to eligibility of members.

Harrisburg, Jan. 18. The city is crowded with military and fire organizations from different parts of the State to join in the inauguration ceremony.

Lively War among Express Companies.

New York, Jan. 18.—There is a prospect of a lively fight between the express companies. The Adams Company claims the right to run between Pittsburg and Chicago by virtue of a contract with the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, which has leased the Pittsburg and Chicago road, insisting on their privilege to run over the Pennsylvania Central and their leased lines. In case the Adams Company attempt this the American will proceed to open offices between Washington and Boston and run upon that route. Representatives of the American Company are very threatening. This action of the Adams people will violate an agreement which has been in force for twenty five years.

[illegible] La Marseillaise publishes a [illegible] from Madrid stating that a public meeting [illegible] 6,000 Republicans, by an unanimous vote sent congratulations to the Republicans of [illegible] Deputy Rochefort, the devoted [illegible] of Democracy.

In the Corps Legislatif the debate on the arraignment of Deputy Rochefort opened. From the beginning of the session the Chambers were [illegible] and all the Deputies as well as all the members of the Cabinet were present. Rochefort occupied his usual seat. Estancelin opened the discussion with a proposition on the part of the "Left Centre." He said they felt confident of the strength of the Ministry and would advise prosecution against the offending Deputy. Ollivier replied that the Government could not accept proposals, and demanded a vote of the Chamber on the question [illegible] the Ministry could not remain in office. This declaration was received with applause from all parts of the Hall. Rochefort in a bitter speech declared the minority were determined to get rid of him as a deputy in not being able to destroy him. He was frequently interrupted by the protestations of members. A large military force was on hand and immense crowds of people gathered in the place De La Concorde, on the quay of the Tuileries opposite the Legislative Hall. The body of guards had been doubled and the police prevented the people from crowding into the chambers. The public was not permitted to cross the bridge leading to that point. The debate closed at six o'clock, when the Chamber decided to grant the demand of the government for the arraignment of Rochefort. The vote stood 226 to 34. Deputy Gambetta, when the vote was announced, protested against the sudden termination of the debate, charging that it was brought about to prevent the proper consideration of so grave a question. The chamber then adjourned.

When the result was announced to the crowd outside a great demonstration was made in favor of Rochefort in the place De La Concorde, and another popular manifestation of sympathy is reported on the Boulevard Mont martre. At eight o'clock the crowds were still collected in the streets shouting for Rochefort.

How Democracy Bates the Taxes

The Democracy when out of power howl eloquently well against the taxes and they occasionally get into office on the catch words "down with the taxes." An instance of that kind in this city a couple of years ago will be remembered. People with ordinarily good memories will remember however that when the Democracy got control of the city government, they whittled down the taxes by increasing the salaries of several Democratic officers and by giving the Democratic organ the city printing at double the rates at which other responsible parties offered to do it and then further cut down the taxes by largely increasing the amount of printing to be paid for—the entire increased amount being matter never before printed, matter in which the public had no conceivable interest, and the printing of which could serve no useful purpose. We mention this to illustrate how Democrats in power act, as in contrast with their professions when asking the people's suffrages. Democracy is claimed to be the same everywhere and at all times. We are free to confess the claim so far as its false cant before elections and gobbling propensities after elections, are concerned. So far as our observation goes, the Democracy is not anywhere unlike that of Portland. The Democratic majority of the present Legislature of California was elected on the catch-cry of "down with the taxes" and the solemn pledges of candidates to relieve the people of the taxation burdens. How well they have redeemed those pledges may be illustrated by a single instance out of a dozen of similar transactions which might be mentioned. In 1863, the press and printing material of one Hall, a vile rebel braggart, were thrown into the street by the indignant citizens of Tulare county. Hall presented a claim to the Legislature for $5,000 damages. A few days ago this claim was allowed, by the passage of a bill by a "party vote" giving Hall that amount out of the State Treasury, notwithstanding the fact that the courts in other similar cases in San Francisco had adjudged the county to be the responsible party. The members were appealed to as "Democrats" to vote for this bill as a "Democratic" measure. The spoil was to go to a Democrat, and, of course, Democrats responded as they always do when there is a chance to help one of their partisan friends get his fingers into the public funds. The Democratic majority are going it in this direction with such a degree of recklessness as to call out emphatic notes of condemnation from some of the more prudent organs of their own party, who foresee and predict a great popular revulsion to come of Democratic disregard of all ideas of economy, and the lavish manner in which the majority is shoveling out the public funds to its partisan friends.

These are not isolated examples. As Democracy is the same everywhere, those of that party in power, are everywhere engaged in like schemes for promoting the financial advancement of their political pals. New York is the most intensely Democratic city in the United States and has the most notoriously corrupt and thieving municipal government. Thieving and jobbing in city treasury funds, supplied by taxes of the most burdensome sort, run riot. The local articles of the city papers are full of charges and exposures of frauds, swindles and outright stealings. The whole municipal government from the Mayor down to the night watchman and the local judiciary are all in the ring and, as no power in the city remains uncorrupted by treasury spoils, there is no power to bring the evil doers to justice. Meanwhile the people helplessly pay the taxes. These are fair specimens of what the Democracy does, as against what it promises, in every city and State where it gets the control of government. It would practice the same style of economy in Oregon if given the opportunity. We ask the people to examine the facts and see if these things be not true, and then decide if they want to entrust the affairs of this State into the hands of men who in nation, State, and city, have so uniformly and notoriously betrayed all trusts, belied their own pledges, and so shamelessly and profligately wasted the money of the people.

Editorial Notes.

News from Paraguay is to the effect that Lopez has not left that State; that the war is by no means ended, and in short, as the New York Herald would say, "Lopez still lives."

San Francisco has become almost as famous for divorces as Chicago. It seems that heretofore divorce causes have been tried sub rosa—the matters being referred to a Commissioner to take testimony—and parties have been allowed to dissolve marital partnerships almost at will. The new judges, Morrison and McKinstry, have, however, opened severely on applicants of this class, declaring that hereafter all divorce suits shall be put on the calendar and tried in open court. It is safe to say the divorce market will hereafter be quoted more quiet.

The Herald has been thrown into a distressed condition by the announcement that the Republicans intend to raise funds in this State to pay for the circulation of campaign documents and newspapers. The funniest feature of the matter is the apparent horror with which the Herald looks upon the proposition as one to "levy black mail upon loyal office holders" for "electioneering purposes." It is a gratifying feature, however, to us, that the proposition does distress the Herald because it is a confession that the circulation of reliable information portends danger to the Democracy. It was for just that reason the committee resolved to raise funds.

Mrs. Laura De Force Gordon has been for some time on the rampage in California, walking metaphorically up and down the State seeking an antagonist worthy her metal, with whom to discuss the question of "woman's rights." Her sweeping challenge to somebody, anybody, everybody to knock a chip off her brawny shoulder, has at last been accepted by a Miss Emma Webb, who proposes to come to the scratch provided she don't leave the State before she can get ready for the "mill." Miss Webb, we judge is a sharp-tongued young female and, withal, not well disposed towards Mrs Laura. The following may be considered a pretty fair shot at long range—an extract from her letter of acceptance: "I will most cheerfully gratify her in her ardent desire to discuss a subject that has already been ventilated by such powerful advocates as Susan B. Anthony, Anna Dickinson and others, forgetting in their zeal the terrible satire on all masculine women in the history of the fighting Amazon women, who, we are told, were in the habit of searing their right breast to make it perish so that it would not be in the way of the arm that wished to wield a sword. [illegible] with all women who neglect the natural instincts of man they must [illegible] the natural attributes and charms by which God has distinguished between the sexes.

The Salem Press has undertaken to direct its financial genius to the task of explaining the cause of the tightness in the money market, but it can't see any further than the State Treasurer's safe in which it supposes to be locked up some $300,000 ... overlooking the fact that all the other Democratic papers insist this money has been used by State officials and thus put into circulation again. Really these papers ought to settle the question whether that money is out or in before they venture upon discussions of the financial situation as affected by the State safe. The reasoning of the Press, however, on the "tightness" is something like this: The people are deprived of their ordinary circulating medium by the perfidy of the Governor and money is therefore tight. Restore the money in the State safe to circulation and we shall have enough coin circulation to supply all the legitimate demands of trade. The locking up of this money is good for the bondholders and speculators because it makes money scarce. The introduction of greenbacks would make money plenty and times flush, but flush times are good for only the bondholders and speculators and bad for the laboring masses. From all which, by the light of the Press dark lantern it is as plain as day that the bondholders and speculators flourish equally well on a money market tight or money market flush, but that the laboring classes flourish best when money is scarce! What a glorious thing it is to have financial genius.

OREGON

The woolen factory at Ashland resumed work again on the 14th inst., the flume having been repaired.

The Jacksonville Sentinel says: It has rained a little in the past few days, but only just enough to remind us that "the seasons have come and gone, and left us little to be grateful for." Farming, mining, everything, except loafing, have been suffering for want of rain."

We learn, says the Jacksonville Sentinel, that our Ashland friends are discussing the project of starting a newspaper at that place. What its name, political character, etc., are to be, has not yet transpired, but we are informed that it is advocated chiefly on the ground of local interests.

From the Salem Press: The river is rising. ... Daniel Delaney's little girl, six years old, was badly scalded last Tuesday. ... Mr Thatcher, Stage Agent, informs us that since the cold snap the roads have not been improving any. In fact they are worse than he ever knew them. The time made from Sacramento to Portland is good notwithstanding the bad going. That distance is passed over in ten and a half days.

From the Salem Statesman: The Board of Managers of the State Agricultural Society, completed their work and adjourned Thursday evening. Major Joseph Magone was elected Field Marshal and S Loelling Pavilion Marshal. The 3d of October next was set for the first day of the next State Fair. Superintendents of classes were appointed and allowances made to members of the Executive Committee and the Secretary of the Society. The Finance Committee reported the books of the Secretary and Treasury correct.

The Mercury has the following items: Forty-four marriage licenses were issued by the County Clerk during the year 1869; four divorces granted, 208 conveyances of real estate in Benton county of the aggregate value of $165,917 21. ....A councilman is to be elected next Monday in place of A. R. McConnell, resigned. ...The Willamette Freighting company is to meet on Saturday the 22d to consider a proposition to increase the capital stock. ... A little son, three years old, of Rev. R. C. Martin was horribly bitten in the face by a large dog, the other day.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS

The expenditures of New Mexico for the fiscal year ending Nov 15, 1869, were $48,513, and the receipts only $16,528. The Territorial debt is now about $60,000.

A merchant in Portsmouth N H, who has advertised in every issue of a weekly paper in that city for the past twenty two years, is about to remove to Boston to escape being sent to Congress.

A man who kicked his wife to death in Ohio has been found guilty of assault and battery by an intelligent jury, and sentenced to six months' imprisonment in the County Jail by the exasperated Judge.

Miss Marshall, who has been lecturing in Memphis and other Southern cities, upon Woman's Rights, Temperance, etc., was arrested in Brownsville, Tenn., last week, and sent to jail for being a "dead beat" generally.

The Mercer County (Ky.) Court has exempted from taxation Edward McCoun and Martha, his wife, colored, on account of services done the country in raising a family of twenty two children, all honest and industrious.

Mr Thomas Russell has returned to Paris, Maine, after an absence of seventeen years, and has greatly incommoded his heirs by demanding a return of his property, which they divided among them long ago, supposing him to be dead.

The lady principal of a school, in her advertisement, mentioned her lady assistant, and the "reputation for teaching which she bears," but the printer left out "which" so the advertisement went forth commending the lady's "reputation for teaching she bears."

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 21.—To-day a man named J Dunn was sentenced to ninety days for beating his wife. Another wretch of the same class, a Mexican, Jose Molena, was tried for beating his wife. The proof showed that he dragged her out of bed, struck and scratched her in the face and stamped with his boot on her prostrate body. The face and person were much injured. Molena was fined $500 or one hundred days in jail.

An order was recently issued that none but citizens of the United States should be employed in the navy yards, &c., consequently a large number of men have within the past few days come down from Mare Island to get naturalized.

The petition against the steam grading bill has received about 4,000 signatures.

There has not been much rain here to-day, but indications are still favorable for more. It seems to be extending southward.

A dispatch from the Superintendent of the Central Pacific Railroad says the road is now opened and trains running regularly.

THE IMPEACHMENT INVESTIGATION.—Congress appointed a committee to investigate the corruptions connected with the impeachment and acquittal of Andrew Johnson. This investigation established these facts:

1. Wendell was the chief manager on the part of the friends of Mr Johnson.
2. A large amount of money was used. Wendell did not handle the money but, of course, he knows who did.
3. Four Senators were bribed to vote against impeachment, receiving altogether $175,000.
4. Trumbull, Fessenden and Grimes were not influenced by money, nor were they approached by the Wendell managers.
5. Seward, Randall and McCulloch knew that money was being used.
6. A large amount of money was obtained over and above what was used, which was pocketed by the men who handled it.
7. B. F. Butler knew that Wendell could tell all about the men who handled the money, and that thus it might be traced to the corrupt Senators, but this part of the investigation he did not press, and hence the Congressional investigation amounted to nothing.

SKETCHES OF OREGON

BY AN EARLY SETTLER IN THE STATE

CHAPTER IV

EARLY STEAMBOATING ON UPPER WILLAMETTE

The last chapter ended with mention of the Minnie Holmes. In this the record of early steam navigation, down to the year 1858 will be presented. But before proceeding upon this task there is a statement in Chapter III in respect to the [illegible] which ought to be made. It is not unusual for writers to abuse the printers, to stand the brunt of their own (the writers') errors. If any one's method is at fault, and somebody should be censured, it is so easy and so safe to attribute the whole blame to the unoffending printer, who has no voice in the matter, but is as used to censure as eels are to skinning, and has to submit without opportunity to protest to whatever is said to shift the responsibility and conceal the actual culprit. As in this instance it is not too easy to make the charge of error stick against the printer, the writer will say that he was not himself in the fault—no writer ever is—but that somebody (that handy scapegoat for all time) did the thing we wot of. The Canemah did not as was stated, pass out of existence as a wharf boat. It was the Minnie Holmes which met that destiny. Mr R. M. DuRell, now President of the First National Bank of Utah and a most energetic, enterprising business man, bought the Canemah, took her to Salem in 1858, fitted her up into a floating saw mill, and afterwards took out her machinery put it up to drive a saw mill he had built on the bank of the river, and run it with good profit until his mill was totally destroyed by fire in 1861.

In 1853 the owners of the Canemah built a large side-wheel steamer with Mississippi style of cabins and state rooms, two disconnected engines, cylinders of fourteen inches bore and five feet stroke. She was called the Wallamet. Captain McClasky was the only steamboat man of experience among her owners, and he was with all his native stubbornness, set in the opinion that none other than sidewheel disconnected engine steamers, could successfully make the short bends and tortuous windings which are frequently encountered on the upper Willamette. The class of sternwheelers he had seen on the Mississippi were rigged with the old fashioned clumsy, unwieldy rudders, which made the boats almost unmanageable in difficult navigation. He had not seen the new style of rudders for stern wheelers, used then in the crooked, narrow waters of California with the utmost success—as for instance in the Stockton slough, which is more tortuous through almost its whole length than even the notably serpentine Rio Grande is in its crookedest portions—and he would have none but sidewheel steamers. Owing to her defective construction, the Wallamet was altogether unfitted to the trade, and signally failed in profiting her owners. Had she been a sternwheeler, most likely first rate success would have rewarded them. But Capt. McClasky would listen to no proposition for a steamer of that class. After a losing run of one season on the upper river, the Wallamet was launched down the Falls in July 1854, and placed upon the route between Portland and Astoria. Her owners had the contract for carrying the mail between these points, and that enabled them to run the route with better advantage. In September of that year she was sold to a company, composed of Capt. Murray, Capt. Richard Hoyt, John M. Breck (then and now a merchant of this city), and others. They took her to California, put her on the route between San Francisco and Sacramento as an opposition boat and lost heavily in the operation. She was sold in California, and passed out of service in the ownership of the California Steam Navigation Company.

In the summer of 1853 a company composed of wealthy men in California, and resident there, at the head of which was Daniel D. Page, of Page, Bacon & Co., then rich bankers, purchased the property on the Linn City side of the Willamette Falls, across from Oregon City, and there inaugurated an enterprise with the view to wholly control the navigation and trade of the upper river. They built large warehouses upon the verge of the falls on the west side, constructed and prepared basins above and below sufficiently large for steamers to enter and receive or discharge freight and passengers, also, a breakwater or bulkhead toward the falls rapids from the upper basin for a long way up to ensure safe navigation there, and rigged hoisting machinery in the warehouses to hoist or lower to or from steamers in the upper and lower basin the passengers and freight on the way up or down the river. The first boat the company undertook to build was burned while on the stocks, Oct. 6, 1853. Immediately was begun the building of another. She was a side wheeler, with double disconnected engines, and called the Gazelle. Her first trip was made March 18, 1854, and she plied on the river regularly until Saturday, April 8th, on the morning of which day she exploded her boiler, and caused the most frightfully fatal calamity which has ever occurred in Oregon. The explosion took place at Canemah. The Wallamet was lying at the wharf, and the Gazelle had moved from alongside that steamer to the upper end of the wharf. On board were about fifty souls—officers, passengers and crew. Her chief engineer, Moses Tonie, was seen to walk ashore, and, in an instant afterwards, the explosion occurred. As soon as those on the Wallamet and shore recovered from the terror of the shock, they rushed to the assistance of the unfortunate persons, whose cries and shrieks and groans were agonizingly audible above all the din and confusion. Col. White and his excellent wife, who now keep the Barlow House in Oregon City, at that time kept a hotel at Canemah. They opened their house to the sufferers at once, and both rendered every attention to all which it was in their power to bestow. Over twenty persons were killed outright as many more were seriously, severely, or slightly scalded, or otherwise injured, and three or four of those died shortly afterwards of their wounds. Among the killed were the Rev. J. P. Miller, Presbyterian pastor of Albany (the father of the wife of Judge Joseph G. Wilson and of the wife of Col. Jas. K. Kelly), Judge Burch of Luckiamute, Mr. Morgan of Rickreal, Mr. Hill, of Albany, Jas. White of Salem, Dan Lowe of Oregon City, David Fuller, of Portland and C. Wadsworth, of Milwaukie, passengers, David Page, the superintendent of the Company, John Clemons, pilot of the Gazelle and J. M. Hodge, pilot of the Wallamet. Among the wounded was the wife of the Rev. J. P. Miller, who had two ribs broken, Charles Gardiner (son of Col. Gardiner, Surveyor-General of Oregon at the time) who had an arm broken, Robert Pentland, now of Dalles City, Miss Pell, Crawford Dibbins of Portland, Robt. Shortess, and B. F. Newby, passengers; Capt. Hereford of the Gazelle, John Boyd, mate, who had both arms broke, and Jas. Partlow, pilot. A young daughter of the Rev. J. P. Miller and wife, who was with her parents on the boat, escaped unharmed. The coroner's jury who investigated the affair charged the frightful accident to the culpable negligence of Tonie, the chief engineer. He evidently felt his own guiltiness inasmuch as he made his escape from the Territory immediately after the accident.

Misfortune seemed to strike disastrously upon this company in every way. Another of their steamers, called the Oregon, was sunk and proved a total loss the same season, and eventually they abandoned the river. The warehouses and basin they had constructed on the Linn City side passed into other hands and finally these were totally swept away by the great flood of December 1861.

The wreck of the unfortunate Gazelle was sold to Capt. Richard Hoyt, Capt. A. S. Murray, Capt. Wm. Wells and one or two others associated with them. They launched her down the Falls August 11, 1855, had her refitted and called her the Senorita. During that year she was profitably employed as a transport to convey troops, horses, army stores and ammunition from Portland to Fort Vancouver and the Cascades, for service in the Indian war then waged in the upper Columbia country. In 1856 she was again [illegible] as a steam packet and put on the route between Portland and the Cascades under command of Capt. Wells. The following year her machinery was taken out and put in the new steamer Hassalo, then just built and larger, more powerful engines were placed in the Senorita. Capt. Henry Hoyt, a brother of Capt. Dick Hoyt, and now Deputy United States Collector of this port, took command of her, and under his charge she continued to run until 1859, when she was laid up in the [illegible] yard.

In December 1853 Capt. A. F. Hedges and Capt. Charles Bennett, who were the pioneer steamboatmen of the upper Willamette, sold out their entire stock and interests—in what was called the "Defiance line"—and retired from the river. Capt. Hedges has since filled several responsible and honorable positions under the Territorial and State governments, Federal and local, and enjoys a high reputation for his integrity and public spirit.

FIRST STERN WHEELER ON THE UPPER RIVER

In the Fall of 1853 a new system of steamboating was inaugurated on the upper river chiefly by Archibald Jamieson with his associates Capt. Murray, Amory Holbrook, whose memory as a distinguished citizen, foremost among the most prominent lawyers and public men of Oregon, is embalmed in the hearts of thousands of warm friends, and John Gierrens, a pioneer steamboat engineer of Oregon. These gentlemen formed a company and built the first sternwheel steamer on the upper Willamette. She had an [illegible] 110 feet long, 20 feet beam, two engines, twelve inches diameter and four feet stroke and a locomotive boiler. A very neat little cabin was fitted up for passengers and [illegible] She was called the Enterprise, was commanded by Capt. Archy Jamieson and proved, under his admirable management, one of the most successful boats in point of profit to her owners and popularity with all along the river, that ever run in these waters. She once or twice sustained accident by snags and sawyers in the river, and on one occasion when heavily laden with flour, and with many passengers on board, in the winter of 1857-8, she came near proving a total wreck at Rock Island, during a dark and stormy night on a downward trip. But on that occasion as on every other the coolness and skill of her gallant commander were so directed as to prevent injury to life or limb of passengers and crew and to save most of the freight on board. On another occasion late in November 1857 the writer of these sketches, with only two others, was a passenger on the Enterprise on her first trip that season from Canemah to Salem. The river was at a very low stage, but Capt. Jamieson said he believed he could make the trip [illegible] three whole days were spent in its accomplishment. All manner of poking with sticks had to be overcome and it required indomitable perseverance, wonderful patience, energy, and exertion, great skill and almost superhuman toil each day to surmount these difficulties. But Capt. Archy was fully equal to every emergency and never did an angry word escape his lips or was any harshness exercised toward his crew, who at times well-nigh faltered or totally failed in performing his orders. He led the way whenever it was necessary to pass a line ashore from the boat to the shore by wading through the chilly water with a kindly word to cheer his crew to the severer tasks and was ever most attentive and unflagging to his three passengers whose comfort was in every possible way provided for. At the riffle at [illegible] there was but thirteen inches water; the Enterprise drew fourteen inches, yet across that shallow stretch on ground [illegible] the pilot, Capt. Jamieson managed to drag the boat by means of hawsers made fast to trees along the banks and of the capstan [illegible] twelve hours hard work [illegible] as the bar. At [illegible] that day did Capt. Jamieson himself lead the crew in wading from the boat to the shore in carrying out the hawsers. He was indeed one of Nature's truest noblemen—a generous, warm hearted, brave spirited, honest, manly Scot, and withal as modest as a maiden and as guileless as a child. He and four of his brothers met a remarkable fatality in this coast, all of them steamboatmen. Capt. Arthur, our readers will remember lost his life when master of the Portland, at the time that ill fated steamer went over the Willamette Falls, in March, 1857, another died at Oregon City of hasty consumption contracted on the river, another met his death by the explosion of the steamer Yale on Fraser river, and, finally, Capt. Archy, while in command and still another brother, who was engineer of the ill fated steamer, were killed by the blowing up of the Cariboo, at Victoria, British Columbia, a few years ago.

In Chapter II was given an account of the manner of the death of Capt. Arthur Jamieson. From Mr. Theodore Weygant, Secretary of the O. S. N. Co., we are indebted for the following interesting anecdote which illustrates the genuine heroism which was a conspicuous characteristic of Capt. Arthur as it was too of all the brothers. Mr. Weygant himself was among the spectators. On the 31st of January, 1856, a small lad of twelve years of age started to cross the Willamette just above the Falls, alone in a skiff. He was unconscious of danger, although in fact his attempt was most perilous. When alone in the middle of the river it became painfully evident to the few who watched the boat from the banks that the little craft with her living freight would go over the falls, unless providentially saved, as all human assistance seemed to be beyond reach. Among the spectators of this thrilling, frightful scene, were Capt. Arthur Jamieson, and Capt. Leonard White, both of whom stood side by side on the deck of a steamer lying at the Canemah wharf. A glance was exchanged between them eloquent of purpose, a quiet word, but grandly pregnant with noble intention, passed from Jamieson to White, and ready brave response it instantly received. They had thought and spoken, instantly they proceeded to action. The two fearless men leaped into a small boat, grasped the oars and strained every nerve to reach the lad in time. When within hailing distance they encouraged him to ply his oars with all the strength he had, but they did so without arousing him to a sense of the imminent peril of his situation, as the knowledge might have paralyzed him. Cheering him on, they pulled close up to his little skiff. Then in a moment stopped they but it grasped the oars from his hands—for there was not an instant to lose—and by most vigorous exertion, inch by inch, painfully slow but very very sure did they succeed in drawing the boat from out the swift, treacherous current which soon would have swept them all into the foaming seething vortex that nothing living could withstand. Their own boat went over the Falls. When the safety of all was assured and those who had anxiously, almost breathlessly, beheld the appalling scene from the shore felt confident that danger no longer threatened, three rousing gladdening cheers were lustily given, and in a little while the heroic pair and the lad they had rescued from, as it were, the very jaws of death, came ashore, and received the hearty congratulations of all assembled there.

Now, to resume the proper line of these sketches. The Enterprise after three years of successful service, was sold to Capt. Tom Wright, a son of the noted Commodore Wright, and by him she was launched down the Falls in July 1858, taken to Fraser river, and, after some service there was taken to the Chehalis river, Washington Territory, where her bones by his [illegible] found a final resting place.

In 1856, another company, of which Capt. Cochran, Capt. John Gibson and Capt. Cassady were the principal members, built a stern wheeler called the James Clinton, and in the following year another, called the Surprise, which was the largest and handsomest of that class at that time on the river. She had two cylinders of 14 inch bore and five-feet stroke, and her passenger cabins and freight accommodations were much superior to that of any boat on the river.

In 1857, Capt. Switzler, Messrs. Moore, Marshall, and others built the little stern wheeler Elk for the Yamhill river trade, and she was a very [illegible]

[illegible] Capt. Jamieson and his associates in the ownership of the Enterprise built a stern wheeler in 1858, in every way larger, handsomer and superior to the rival steamer. They called her the Onward, and she did good service under Capt. Jamieson's command.

Again we rest, and in the next chapter will give attention to early steamboating on the Columbia river.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec 3 1869

Dr. J. J. McBride—Having suffered with sciatic rheumatism some months, I was induced to use your King of Pain. I take pleasure in recommending it to those afflicted with rheumatism. I know of several cases of neuralgia that have been cured by using it.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec 3 1869

To Dr. McBride—This is to certify that I have been troubled with neuralgia in my right arm and hand for the past three months and although I have had medical advice and tried a number of remedies none has relieved me until I tried Dr. McBride's King of Pain, which has done me more good than all the other remedies I have tried.

JAMES S. HOUSEMAN

THE GREAT KING OF PAIN.

DR. J. J. McBRIDE,

A CARD.

SAN FRANCISCO Oct 14 1869

DR. McBRIDE—My Dear Sir: For the last six or seven years I have been afflicted with rheumatic pains from my knees down embracing all the joints of ankle and toes. These pains have come upon me periodically every year about this season of the year. My knees and ankles, and toe joints, and my wrists and finger joints would swell and leave me in the most agonizing pain, known only to those who have suffered from this dread malady. These pains would continue for a period of from three to four months every year, and they have been regular annual visitors. I have been so accustomed to apply for relief to all the best physicians of San Francisco, and have not failed to use all the popular remedies known to the public. I would sometimes receive temporary relief after long continued application, but it would never fail to return in a few days with increased severity.

About two weeks ago, while my pains were upon me, I saw you at the corner of one of our streets and heard what you said about your "King of Pain." I confess that I did not believe your statements. "Still," thought I, "it's only a dollar and I'll patronize the humbug one dollar's worth." I bought a bottle and tried it first on my knee, which was fearfully swollen and from which I suffered very severely. The second night I tried it again, and my dear Doctor, you can judge of my surprise, ecstacy and delight altogether when I found on rising the second morning that my pains were entirely gone and the swelling entirely disappeared. My knee joints with delight much to the amazement of my friends, who had been in the habit of regarding me as a decrepid old rheumatic. It has now been two weeks, and I have not felt the least symptom of return. I believe I am cured and I feel so grateful to you that I offer you this statement, verified by my oath to be used by you in whatever way you may think proper and I feel it a duty to let others similarly afflicted know where they can find relief.

I am yours very truly, RAPHAEL LOCKAYER.

CITY.

OSWEGO.—The Tualatin River Navigation and Manufacturing Company, which is incorporated under the laws of the State, has recently purchased of Mr. Trullinger that portion of his land claim embracing the town site of Oswego. The [illegible] paid was $26,000. The Statesman's Portland correspondence says: "The corporation propose to cut a canal from the Tualatin river into [illegible] Lake, a distance of about one and a quarter miles, and they expect to erect important manufacturing establishments at Oswego to use the valuable water power thus created. It will make the Tualatin river a highway for commerce, as the canal will be navigable for steamers, and the canal will connect the lake with the river at Oswego, where a fall of 80 feet will exist, and which can be easily rigged to take freight from the lower boats as well as to discharge freight to them. This will do away with much expense now necessary to transport freights to and from Washington county. The officers of this company are, W. D. Hare, President; W. S. Failing, Secretary, and Capt. RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.—From the Advocate we gather the following:

The third quarterly meeting for East and South Portland charge, will be held at the Harrison St. Church, commencing at two o'clock P. M. with preaching by the presiding elder.

A protracted meeting held at Lee's Chapel, East Portland, has been interesting and successful thus far, in accession of 15 members to the Church. Rev. W. I. Cooper, preacher in charge, was assisted by Rev. C. Kelly and others.

The services held at Mt. Tabor on Sunday last were interesting. At the close [illegible] united with the Church, and at [illegible] after preaching by Bro. Cooper, six more gave their names for membership. The society [illegible] revived.

The proposition of building a Church in the [illegible] part of the city is being agitated by the [illegible] denomination.

[illegible]—A few nights ago policeman Brannan [illegible] the corner of Salmon and Third streets [illegible] standing, a most piercing shriek, [illegible] given by a woman in the direction of [illegible]. He started in quest of the cause and [illegible] was led by two others along the street [illegible] home. She was intoxicated, and [illegible] steps she made, she would give a [illegible] such as she only can give. She is [illegible] known in this city, especially to the [illegible]. We are told that another exhibition [illegible] on Thursday night and she will have to [illegible].

[illegible] COURT.—This Court, Hon. M. P. [illegible], convened yesterday morning at [illegible]. The proceedings of the day were as [illegible]:

[illegible] Assignee, vs. William Currier. [illegible] of J. W. Whalley, Esq., judgment [illegible] in favor of plaintiff for $700 and costs. [illegible] Elliott vs. B. Holladay, et al. Argument [illegible] to plea of abatement. Trimble for plaintiff, Mitchell for defendant, [illegible] Submitted. Adjourned to Tuesday,

[illegible] CONCERT.—The programme of music at [illegible] is as follows, beginning at 2:30 P. M.:

The Conscript Farewell,

The Linnel Schottisch.

Cavatina, En Prigione d'Edinburg—Ricci.

[illegible] Vaudeville, German Airs.

Drinking Song, Lucretia Borgia—Donizetti.

Polka Redowa.

[illegible] March.

[illegible] LICENSES.—The laws which every one is [illegible] to know, provided that city licenses [illegible] paid quarterly in advance. The present [illegible] began on the first of this month, yet a [illegible] persons are doing business in this city [illegible] licenses, who have not yet taken [illegible]. No more notice will be given until the [illegible] is given.

[illegible] HALL.—Mrs. Martin, Trance Speaker, will lecture at Harmony Hall on to-morrow at [illegible] ten o'clock in the forenoon. The subject [illegible] selected by the audience.

[illegible] Todd will deliver a lecture at the [illegible] at half-past seven o'clock in the evening. [illegible] public is generally invited to attend on [illegible].

[illegible]—A dispatch from Mr. E. McGinnes, [illegible] in this city on Thursday last, states that [illegible] would sail at 4 o'clock P. M. of that [illegible], Bates, would come a passenger [illegible] bringing a full company of actors. This [illegible] will probably open at Oro Fino Theater in [illegible] about the 20th inst.

[illegible] TAX.—The various papers of the State [illegible] their readers to begin the work of [illegible] their income returns. It will save the [illegible] and the people much trouble if the suggestion [illegible] be heeded. We believe the law requires a [illegible] the first day of March.

[illegible] DOWN.—The Daily Evening Call of [illegible] says a rumor was current that the stage [illegible] broke down about midway between Olympia [illegible] Monticello. A number of passengers for [illegible] were at the latter place awaiting the [illegible] of a conveyance.

[illegible] HOME.—United States Marshal Thomas [illegible] telegraphed to this city yesterday [illegible] was on his way home. He has been [illegible] trip to the southwestern counties looking [illegible] government interests. He will probably [illegible] here in a few days.

[illegible] TERM.—The next term of the St. Helens [illegible] for young ladies will begin on the [illegible]. The additions to the building will be [illegible] by that time and ample accommodations [illegible] first class character will be offered to pupils [illegible] institution.

[illegible].—The steamship California from San Francisco via Victoria, will probably arrive [illegible] or to-morrow.

[illegible] not be expected before Monday, she having sailed from San Francisco [illegible].

[illegible]—Dr. L. A. Smith, a graduate of the [illegible] Department of the Wallamet University, [illegible] home in Hillsboro, Washington county, [illegible] months since, for the benefit of his [illegible], died in Texas on the 4th of last December.

[illegible] PRODUCE.—The total receipts of flour [illegible] Wallamet river steamers since the first of [illegible], were 18,007 quarter sacks. Yesterday [illegible] something over 4,500 bushels [illegible] and 1,500 bushels of oats were received.

[illegible] LOGICAL.—The lectures by Revs. Watts [illegible] Jolly, at Harmony Hall, still continue to be [illegible] attended. The subject this evening will be [illegible] Man's soul? The interest in these [illegible] is increasing.

[illegible]LY.—A burly fellow got drunk and [illegible] considerable noise on First street, near [illegible], last night, and was arrested by officer [illegible] and cooked in the calaboose to reflect on [illegible].

[illegible].—Jennie McCarty was before Recorder [illegible] yesterday and fined $5 and costs on a [illegible] guilty to the charge of assaulting a boy [illegible] John Taylor, with a horsewhip.

[illegible].—The bark Helen W. Almy, which [illegible] San Francisco on the 8th inst., was sighted [illegible] the bar on the 19th. She may reach here [illegible].

[illegible] CASCADE."—This boat will start at five [illegible] for the Lower Cascades, and will hereafter make her regular trips if the ice will allow.

AMOUNT.—The total amount of real estate transactions in Multnomah County during the first twenty days of this month is $25,227 25.

NO ICE.—Passengers by the Mary Bell report that the Columbia river below the mouth of the [illegible] is almost entirely clear of ice.

[illegible] RISING.—The Wallamet is still rising at [illegible] and may so continue for some days, as [illegible] tributaries are said to be very full.

YOUNG MEN.—Bishop Morris will preach a [illegible] specially to young men at Trinity Church [illegible] morrow.

FOR ASTORIA.—The new steamboat Mary Bell will go down to Astoria on her first trip to-day.

SALES.—Mr. Richardson, auctioneer, will sell some valuable property, both real and personal, at his auction rooms to-day. Read his advertisement.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.—The United States District Court for Oregon will convene on Monday next pursuant to adjournment.

A clergyman was once endeavoring to get a subscription in aid of some charitable object out of a close fisted parishioner, who attempted to excuse himself on the ground that he already owed a great deal of money. "But," said the minister, "you owe God a larger debt than you do any one else." "That is so parson; but then he ain't pushing me like the balance of my creditors."

There is nothing more pleasing to Son and Parent than a neat fitting and good suit of clothing. The place such are to be found is at Kohn & Fishel's, No. 91 Front street. Their suits are all custom made. Their stock of clothing is the largest in the city, and will be sold lower than ever the next two months to make room for their extensive Spring stock soon to arrive.

NOWHERE can a few hundred dollars be so well invested as in the Puget Sound Homestead Association. It will insure each shareholder an interest in the great city to be built at the terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad. Over One Hundred Shares are already taken. Persons desiring to become Stockholders will do well to call soon and enroll their names

ADVICE, IF YOU WISH TO BUY A GOOD SUIT OF CLOTHING, TAKE A FRIEND'S ADVICE AND BUY THEM AT HARMANKROS, ODD FELLOW'S TEMPLE, FIRST STREET Portland.

UNION REPUBLICAN CONVENTION OF OREGON.

Exuberant Health

Is a blessing vouchsafed to but few. Even those who have been favored by nature with strong constitutions and vigorous frames are apt to neglect the precautions necessary to preserve these precious endowments. Indeed, as a rule, the more healthy and robust a man is, the more liberties he is inclined to take with his own physique. It is some consolation to the naturally weak and feeble to know that they can be so invigorated and built up, by a proper use of the means which science has placed at their disposal as to have a much better chance of long life and exemptions from disease and pain, than the most athletic of their fellows who are foolish enough to suppose themselves invulnerable, and act accordingly.

It is not too much to say that more than half the people of the civilized world need an occasional tonic, to enable them to support the strain upon their bodies and minds which the fast life of this restless age occasions. In fact, a pure, wholesome, unexciting tonic is the grand desideratum of the busy millions, and they have the article in HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. It is a STAMINAL MEDICINE, i. e., it imparts permanent strength to weak systems and invigorates delicate constitutions. Its reputation and its sales have steadily increased. Competitive preparations have been introduced ad libitum, and, as far as the public is concerned, ad nauseum, in the hope of rivalling it; but they have all either perished in the attempt, or been left far in the rear. It has been the great Medical Success of the present century, and it is quite certain that no proprietary medicine in this country is so widely known or so generally used.

Ten lightning presses, running incessantly (Sundays excepted), the whole year through, barely supply the demand for the Illustrated Almanac, in which the nature and uses of the preparation are set forth, the circulation now being over five millions a year.

THE PEOPLE SAY

That PRATT'S ABOLITION OIL is the best remedy in the world for the complete and speedy cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lame Back, Gout, Chilblains, Sprains, Bruises, Stiff and Swollen Joints, Contracted Cords and Muscles, Pains in the Breast and Sides, Nervous Headache, Toothache, Earache, Sore Throat, Colic, Cramps, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa, and all internal and external aches and pains. Put up in two sizes—Price 50 cents and $1 00. Circulars with full directions around the bottles. For sale by all druggists

THE BLOOD AND LIVER

Life and health depend on their condition. PRATT'S NEW LIFE purifies the blood, heals old sores, expels from the system all scrofulous humors, cutaneous eruption and impure matter. It stimulates the Liver and Kidneys to healthy action, regulates the Bowels, cures Piles and Dyspepsia. Persons subject to Billious attacks and those suffering from the effects of Fever and Ague or any injudicious use of Quinine and Mercury will find PRATT'S NEW LIFE invaluable. Price $1 00.

TO THE WORKING CLASS.—We are now prepared to furnish constant employment at home the whole of the time or for the spare moments. Business new, light and profitable. Persons of either sex easily earn from 50 cents to $5 per evening, and a proportional sum by devoting their whole time to the business. Boys and girls earn nearly as much as men. That all who see this notice may send their address and test the business we make this unparalleled offer. To such as are not well satisfied, we will send $1 to pay for the trouble of writing. Full particulars, a valuable sample, which will do to commence work on, and a copy of The People's Literary Companion—one of the largest and best family newspapers published—all sent free by mail. Reader if you want permanent, profitable work, address E. C. ALLEN & CO., Augusta, Maine. n17daw3m

"The Catalogue of RUMSEY & CO., of Seneca Falls, embraces over 200 different styles and sizes of Lift and Force Pumps. They are now turning out 1,500 Pumps per week, which range in price from $3 00 to $100, employing 150 hands in the business. John A. Rumsey has recently patented an improved galvanized non-corrosive cast iron Pump, which is safe from rust. An improved Hand Fire Engine of great efficiency, is also on their list. The machinery in Rumsey Co.'s Factory is of the most efficient kind, much of it being of their own invention, and is driven by an unfailing water power. They are now building a new factory, 84x42 feet 4 stories. When this is completed they will increase their working force to 250 hands. The business carried on by this firm was established by Rumsey about 20 years ago."—Iron Age, New York. d16dtf

GENERAL NOTES

Strange to say the incoming Iowa Legislature will not have in it a single Smith with an i. There will be one Smyth with a y—Linn county's most excellent Senator—but no Smith with the orthography of the individual whose life Miss Pocahontas saved, will have a seat in the halls of our legislation for the years 1870-1. The Smith family have been slightly left out in the cold, and not treated exactly right. Here's something worse than a slight to legality, and a bad case of taxation without representation. And that other numerous family, the Joneses, have but one representative—and the Browns have only two. The Smiths, Joneses, and Browns should rally and see about this.

All the principal cities of Ohio recently sent delegates to Columbus to meet in Convention and determine whether or not the municipal code should be amended so as to allow boards of health to license and regulate houses of ill fame. Cincinnati, Dayton and Cleveland voted for, and Springfield, Toledo, Columbus, Dayton, and several other cities, voted against. Finally, on a vote to regulate, but not license, the thing was determined in favor of regulation, by a vote of 27 to 15. The argument on which the friends of the measure chiefly relied, was the fact that all other attempts for suppression of the evil had failed, and that the plan of license had been more successful [illegible] elsewhere. The advocates of licensed infamy [illegible] seemed to forget that their arguments applied to gambling, theft, murder, etc., as well.

The Toledo (Ohio) Blade favors the passage by Congress of a general divorce law, thus securing uniformity in all the States and Territories and [illegible] the many evils arising from our present anomalous system. "Without being friendly to an undue increase of the powers of the Federal Government," it says, "we do think the [illegible] of morality and social order demands a change [illegible] we have indicated. [illegible] such a law, and the scandalous spectacle of people journeying from State to State, in the desire to divest themselves of hymeneal bonds through the laxity of [illegible] local divorce statute, will no longer offend. [illegible] the anomaly of having children debarred of legitimacy in one State and illegitimate in another State would be avoided, as likewise many [illegible] affecting the rights of inheritance. [illegible] Further [illegible] clergymen would then be [illegible] responsibility, especially in the matter of allowing second marriages, and there would be little danger that, through ignorance [illegible] or other comparatively innocent [illegible] would be sought in violation of legal [illegible] or the moral law.

How New York was Reached One Hundred Years Ago.—An advertisement cut from a paper published more than one hundred years ago [illegible] the Philadelphians got to New York [illegible]. It was in these words: "Philadelphia stage wagon and New York stage boat perform their stages twice a week. John Butler, with his wagon, sets out on Monday from his house, at the sign of the fox, Strawberry Alley, and drives the same day to Trenton Ferry, where Francis Holman meets him, and proceeds on Tuesday to Brunswick, and the passengers and goods being shifted into the wagon of Isaac Fitzrandolph, he will take them to the New Blazing Star [illegible] the same day, where [illegible] with a boat well suited will [illegible] to New York that [illegible] John Butler returning to Philadelphia on [illegible] with the passengers and goods delivered [illegible] Holman, [illegible] will carry his [illegible] to New York."

HOAGLAND'S NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!

W. F. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,

Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless necks. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.

It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c., as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months in which it has been brought into public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN, and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

A. L. WALLACE,	G. R. WARD,
Mrs. MONTGOMERY,	JOHN M. HOLLOWAY,
W. D. PORTER,	ROB'T RAMSEY,

And others in that vicinity.

Persons afflicted with the distressing ailment of diseased eyes are advised to give this remedy a fair trial on the NO CURE, NO PAY and NO INJURY plan.

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF WM. A. Ebinger, deceased, Jacob Stitzel guardian—Citation. Now upon this day, upon reading and filing the petition of Jacob Stitzel, Guardian of the minor heirs of Wm. A. Ebinger, deceased, and it appearing therefrom that the personal property of said estate is insufficient to pay the debts and charges against the same and that a sale of real estate for that purpose is prayed for, it is ordered that citation issue to the heirs of said William A. Ebinger, deceased, and to all others unknown who have any interest in said estate to appear at the February term of this court, to be held at Portland on the first Monday of February, 1870, to show cause if any exist, why an order of sale should not be made as in said petition prayed for, and why lot number Eight (8) in Block Thirty (30), in Couch's addition to the city of Portland in the county of Multnomah and State of Oregon, part of the real estate of said deceased should not be sold to pay the debts against said estate. And it is ordered by the court that citation be made according to law.
